VICTORIA CROSS

VICTORIA CROSS awarded Capt. THOMAS de COURCY HAMILTON 1855

The Victoria Cross is the highest recognition of military valour in the British Commonwealth, awarded for exceptional acts of courage in the presence of the enemy, without regard to rank, service or length of service; Established in 1856 by Queen Victoria, who was inspired by the bravery of returning veterans of the Crimean War, the VC takes precedence over all other decorations and is worn nearest the buttons of the tunic; Prince Albert, the Queen's Consort, contributed to the design of the medal, which is made from bronze Russian guns captured during the Crimean War

Capt. Thomas de Courcy Hamilton was an early recipient of the Victoria Cross, awarded in recognition of his gallantry during the siege of Sevastopol in 1855 during the Crimean War; Joining the British Army in 1842 as Ensign with the 90th Regiment of Foot (Perthshire Volunteers), he served in South Africa 1846 and by 1847 had been promoted Lieutenant; In 1848 he exchanged into the 1st Battalion, 68th Regiment of Foot (later to be renamed Durham Light Infantry), becoming its Adjutant by 1850 and a Captain by 1854 when his regiment embarked for the Crimea; At the siege of Sevastopol (Sebastapol) his commanding officer Henry Smyth recommended he receive the Victoria Cross for his actions on 11-May-1855

The citation reads: "May 11, 1855, Captain Thomas de Courcy Hamilton, 68th Regt. - For having, on the night of the May 11, during a most determined sortie, boldly charged the enemy, with a small force, [driving them] from a battery of which they had obtained possession in great numbers, thereby saving the works (guns) from falling into the hands of the enemy; He was conspicuous on this occasion for his gallantry and daring conduct."

The National Archives (Public Record Office) at Kew, near London, have the following document series:

[NA Ref: WO 98/2] War Office: Correspondance and papers concerning the Victoria Cross - this includes:

"Officer Commanding 68th Regt., recommending Capt. T. D. C. Hamilton, Sjt. D. Dwyer, Sjt. T. Gereghty, Sjt. H. Sladden, Cpt. J. Meara, Pte. J. Byrne, Pte. M. Cormick, Pte. F. Daily, Pte. J. Sales, Pte. R. Sandys, Pte. J. Sims, Pte. J. Smith. Correspondence" Date: 1856

[NA Ref: WO 98/3] War Office: Victoria Cross Register - this includes:

"Medal listing of Hamilton Thomas De Courcy Captain 68th Regiment 11 May 1855 Crimea" Date: 1856 - 1864

["The VC's of Gloucestershire and North Bristol" by N. J. Thornicroft, pub. Wedderburn Art Ltd, 2005, pp.16-18] tells us:

"Having seen active service in South Africa during 1846, he was a Captain by the time he arrived in the Crimea, witnessing the Battles of Alma (20/9/1854), Balaclava (25/10/1854), Inkerman (5/11/1854), and taking part in the subsequent Siege of Sebastopol..."

"The latter period of the Crimean War, which lasted nearly a year, saw the Allies digging in around the beleaguered garrison of Sebastopol..." writing of the cannon, cholera and extreme cold conditions, he continues:

"Not only did the Allied soldiers have to confront these sorts of appalling deprivations, the enemy also kept them occupied in other ways by carrying out clandestine operations under the cover of darkness, designed to further harass the besieging army, which included the 68th Regiment and Captain Hamilton, whose heroics from time-to-time were reported in the Gloucestershire Echo soon after his death [as follows]:

> During the day of May 11th, 1855, continued bustle and excitement were observed within the Russian lines opposite one of the most important of the advanced posts, which was protected by a large body of the British... A sortie in force was expected, and every precaution was consequently made to resist it... [When] night fell there was a hush of expectancy on the whole camp... The day wore on; the gloom of night approached. Then all was still.

But the British were not deceived... Suddenly a deadly roar awoke the night; a blaze broke forth [and] the Russians came pouring forth in thousanda, [advancing] with deadly force against the British, who were too few in number to to resist them. In the deadly conflict one of [our] artilliary batteries was captured and held, for our men were killed as they stood...'.

Captain Hamilton saw and recognised the peril of the situation, and without waiting to discuss relative numbers, he called upon a few of the the 68th... men, and without pausing... rushed forward sword in hand, and in less than two minutes drove the enemy out, pursuing them towards the fortress. It was a sharp and determined conflict - sabre and bayonet flashing through the chests of the foe, men rushing on to death everywhere for the honour of the flag. The daring deed thus accomplished prevented the spiking of the guns, and the works from passing into the hands of the Russians. The V.C. [Gazetted on February 24th, 1857] thus won by Captain Hamilton was gained in a melee where the enemy outnumbered [the British] ten to one'.

"In 1857 Hamilton was promoted to Brevet-Major, the same year he married Mary Baynes, daughter of Sir William Baynes, 2nd Bart... after spending five years in the Ionian Islands (1857-1862) (four years, at Corfu 1857-1861 - BJ), Hamilton was appointed Major in the 8th Regiment, then Lieutenant-Colonel in 64th Regt., retiring as Major-General on full pay in 1873 (24.2.1874 - BJ)"; Thomas Hamilton's VC was announced in "London Gazette" on the 24-Feb-1857; Thomas Hamilton's VC was announced in the "London Gazette" on the 24-Feb-1857; Queen Victoria presented the first Victoria Cross medals to sixty-two veterans of the Crimean War at ceremony held in Hyde Park on 26-Jun-1857, but Thomas Hamilton was not present, his VC presented on 22nd July 1857 on Corfu in the Ionian Islands (now part of Greece) by Major General Sir George Buller

Later that year, on 8-Sep-1857, Thomas Hamilton married at Trinity Church, St.Marylebone, London to Mary Ann Louisa Baynes (b.1831/2 Macao, China); They returned to Corfu, making their home on the island for five years, their first three children born there; There were to be four more children, one born at Gibraltar, two at Malta and one in England; Retiring from the army on 24-Feb-1874 at the rank of Major-General, he settled at the fashionable Pittville area of Cheltenham, Gloucestershire and serving as Cheltenham Magistrate (JP) c1881-1891

His photograph was pub. in [The Cheltenham Chronicle and Gloucestershire Graphic "Art and Literary Supplement", issue No.<???> 27-Sep-1902] for an article titled "Gloucestershire Victoria Cross Heroes" featuring portraits of VC holders with Gloucestershire connections; and again in the same "Art and Literary Supplement" to accompany his obituary [The Cheltenham Chronicle and Gloucestershire Graphic, No.375, 7-Mar-1908]; other obituaries appeared in [The Cheltenham Looker-on 7-March-1908, issue <???> pp.17-18] and [St.Stephen's Parish Magazine, April 1908]

["Register of the Victoria Cross" 1981 (p.115, No.519), by Nora Buzzell (d.2007), pub. 1981, 1988, 1997 by "This England" of Cheltenham] Thomas Hamilton was appointed by France a member of the Légion d'honneur (Legion of Honour) 5th Class

Charles Edgar Keen Brett, RN; this was at Lower Cheltenham Place, Bristol; an altercation between Joseph Lewis BH and one of his wife's sisters (which sister?), over the ownership of a pawned gold watch, was reported in [The Cambrian, Swansea 29.6.1844 p.3]; NOTE: Arabella Keen was b.c1796/1800 at Dawlish, Devon; she m.31.8.1824 at Dawlish to James Brett; Arabella was lodging at 5 Sutton Place, Plymouth 1851; Charles Brett was b.1831, bapt.26.8.1831 Bathwick, Bath; serving on HMS "Mersey" at Portsmouth 1861 m.2nd 31.7.1854 (or 2.7.1854?) SLAVES ON BLENNERHASSETT ISLAND

Miesjah (Micajah, Micah) "Cajoe" (Cujoe) Phillips (d.c10.12.1861)

The Maine newspaper "Ellsworth Herald" of 14.2.1862 tells "...Ohio papers announced the death of a negro named Miesjah Phillips at the great age of 125 years. He came to the West in 1796 with Herman (sic) Blennerhasset as his slave, & continued with him until he fled. He was never freed...":

Henry Burke of the "Underground Railroad Research Center of Southeastern Ohio" in his 1999 monograph "Cajoe Phillips: Blennerhassett Island Plantation", relates that Micah "Cajoe" Phillips was born in Tidewater, Virginia c1740 and that he claimed to have fought with the 16,000 American & French forces under Washington's command at the siege of Yorktown (NOTE: Cornwallis, the British commander, made several attempts to break through the siege but surrendered on 19,10.1781); Burke says "...Contrary to George Washington's decree that slaves who fought with the Continental Army in the Revolutionary War against England would be freed", after military service Cajoe was not granted his freedom; instead he was eventually sold by his master to a slave dealer. Blennerhassett bought Cajoe Phillips at the slave auction market in Richmond, Virginia c1799 along with some other slaves which he brought back to his plantation. Cajoe's main job on the plantation was pulling the rope that propelled the ferry back & forth between Virginia shore & island plantation..."; One of the papers reporting the death was [The Mariatta Republican 10.12.1861, p.2]

When the Blennerhassetts abandoned their island, Cajoe "freed himself", settling across the Ohio River at Waterford, Washington Co., where he bought a small farm near the Muskingum River; There he established the "Waterford Underground Railroad Station", living the remainder of his life as an underground railroad "conductor" assisting fugitive slaves make the journey to Canada; Cajoe died 8.12.1861 (not 1862) & rests under a grave stone on his Waterford farm, the stone reporting age 120 years; He had some step-children

MOSES

At one time the "principal waterman" was Moses, a slave who used a light canoe to ferry the Blennerhassetts and other passengers between Blennerhassett Island and Marietta; Probably identical with Miesjah (Micah) Phillips, but perhaps a different man

A YOUNG GIRL

One legend of Margaret Blennerhassett has her "...returning to the Island one day from Newport (now Parkersburg); she was travelling in a canoe with a young female slave who could not swin; Margaret had just purchased some jewels and was carrying them in a small casket; the canoe capsized and the girl would have drowned had not Margaret jettisoned the jewel box to save her

RANSOM REED

Margaret Blennerhassett was reputedly kind to their slaves, teaching them to read and write; her personal servant was Ransom Reed, a short, light-skinned, Mulatto whose wife Cassie, also a slave, was a midwife; when Margaret went riding Ransom rode behind her "...in a neat showy dress, and had to apply both whip & spur to keep in sight of his mistress..."

Ransom Reed is said to lie in unmarked grave at Holliday Cem., Parkersburg (6th St. & Gale Ave.); The earliest recorded burial there is 1811, but several of the unmarked graves pre-date that year Cem., Manhattan, NY; with her son Harman Jr. (exhumed & reburied on BH Island in 1996) inherited from his brother Harman BH Jr in 1854; [The Troy Free Press 20.7.1888] reports a Blennerhassett art exhibit, "among the really historic relics on exhibition are several displayed by Mrs Blennerhassett, being the property of the once famous B'hassett of the Island. They are a pistol case, spectacles, snuff box & match box"; After their separation in 1858 she lived with her children at Dog Prairie, St Charles Co., Missouri, where she owned 2700 acres; in 1860 at St Charles City, Missouri with her two children from 1st m.; in 1870 she resided at Troy "keeping house" with her dau. Emily's family; she d.14.2.1891 Troy, Lincoln Co., Missouri; bur. Troy City Cem.

Jefferson Addison Drake was b.c1815 NY; he d.post 1850, bef.25-Nov-1852, one source saying "on his way to California during the Gold Rush", but no evidence); Abigail had m. him 11.6.1845 at Calhoun Co., Illinois (in 1850 of District 78, St Charles Co., Missouri) & they had 2 children:

1. Charles Drake (b.c1847/48 d. post 15-Sep-1853, before 31-Jul-1854) and 2. Emily "Emma" Drake (b.c1849/50 d.15-Dec-1932) who m. Henry Clay Tanner

HARMAN ENNERHASSETT

BLENNERHASSETT |>> Margaret Blennerhassett; b.1813 La Cache, Mississippi; d. in infancy, Therese Blennerhassett Adams (K 43) has her born before her brother J. Lewis, in error;

Harman Blennerhassett (some sources have "Harmon" or "Herman" in error) was six feet tall, of slender build & with a slight stoop; an educated man, with knowledge of chemistry, astronomy, electricity & music; b.8.10.1764 (some sources have 1765 in error) Hambledon, Hampshire, England & bapt.10.10.1764 at Church of St Peter & St Paul, Hambledon (C.of E.) while his parents were visiting friends or relatives at Hambledon;

edu. Westminster School, London (admitted 2.11.1781, left 1783; see "The Record of Old Westminster's" vol.1 p.98); studied law at Trinity College Dublin (TCD - Admitted Pensioner 7.7.1783, BA 1790, LL.B Batchelor of Law 1790); admitted to Irish bar (King's Inn, Dublin) 1790 as barrister (at same time as his friend Thomas Addis Emmet - K 77) but did not practice his profession in Ireland, although he did list his services in the Dublin City Directory throughout his life; a fine and very beautiful portrait miniature of Harman Blennerhassett was for many years believed painted "...by one of the most talented artists in Dublin..." c1783-90 (for description see p.B 03) but in 2008 expert opinion has declared that the miniature was painted not in Britain or Ireland but in the USA

Harman BH played violin & cello, owning a valuable Cremona violin, already over 100 yrs old when he owned it; this is missing; a legend in the family of Byron Hassett, of Hassett, Digby Co. Nova Scotia (who believe they descend from Blennerhassett and have twice used the name "Harman Hassett" in their family) suggests this violin was obtained (with other relies of Blennerhassett Island that went missing following the death of Harman BH Jr at New York 1854) by Byron Hassett, but subsequently destroyed when his house was burnt accidentally 1892/3; By his Will Harman bequeathed "...several musical compositions..." to his son Harman BH Jr, for future publication, these including a march, written on Blennerhassett Island c1797-1805; Following his graduation in 1790 Harman made the usual young Gentleman's "Grand Tour" of continental Europe, with some companions; He appears to have spent most of this time in France, being there soon after the French Revolution; Said by some to be influenced by republican ideals and the writings of Voltaire and Rousseau, he was present at the 1790 Festival of Confederation held in the "Champ des Mars" ("Field of Mars") outside Paris, where the first anniversary of the taking of the Bastille (which fell 14.7.1789) was commemorated by 500,000 Frenchmen; However, some sources say Harman visited Paris only in 1792; on the death of his father in 1792 Harman inherited Castle Conway, Killorglin with 4000 ac., other lands & £20,000; his two elder bro's having pre-deceased him; Harman joined the "Society of United Irishmen" 1793 (nationalist society working towards self-government for Ireland, founded 1791, suppressed 1794); several sources suggest that he became one of their secretaries, but this is probably untrue, there is no supporting evidence; The headquarters were at Belfast, with a large branch at Dublin; while it had a predominantly Protestant leadership & membership, it enjoyed considerable support from Catholic middle class; Their leader was Theobald Wolfe Tone, a young lawyer who di

Harman married c1795/6 aged 31 (some say 1794), secretly in England, perhaps at London, although no evidence of any marriage has been found; to his niece Margaret Agnew, she aged c24/25 (some sources say aged 18, in error); Such a marriage between uncle and niece was invalid in both England and Ireland; Harman broke the entail on his inherited Castle Conway property by selling the estate for £28,000 to to Thomas Mullins (1736-1824; later Lord Ventry) on 27.10.1795; Thomas Mullins was husband of Harman's cousin Elizabeth Margaret Gun (K 53); Harman left for England from Kinsale, Co.Cork, home of his sister Susan; The two families were scandalised, by the illicit marriage & the breaking of the entail, Margaret reportedly being "...turned from her parental home and disinherited..."; to avoid facing the scandal the couple sailed from Gravesend, England 20.5.1796 on board the ship "Harriet", arriving at New York, USA 1.8.1796 (not 1795) after an exceptionally long voyage of 10,000 miles lasting 73 days due to alternately being becalmed then blown off course; Some sources give Harman Blennerhassett's position as amember of the "Society of United Irishmen" as an important reason for leaving, but there is no evidence for this, the motivation was entirely personal; Prior to departure he purchased at London "...a splendid library of books..." and "...mathematical, astronomical & philosophical apparatus...";

The Kerry historian Mary Agnes Hickson (K 21) in 1880 wrote "...the main cause of his leaving Ireland and selling his estates was his determination to marry her..."
"...the marriage of an uncle & niece being illegal in Ireland..." "...and the feeling in Ireland against it was particularly strong..." (see "Kerry Evening Post" of 14.8.1880);
A letter written by Harman to his sister Catherine Agnew, at the time of his marriage to her daughter, was in the 1950s owned by Mrs Harman BH MacGregor, of Marblehead, Mass. (d.c1960 - K 42); The present location of this letter is unknown; it is not with other BH family papers from Mrs BH MacGregor held at "The Ohio Historical Society", Columbus, Ohio; Following their arrival in the United States the couple resided briefly at Utrecht, Long Island, New York; travelled through N.Jersey, arriving at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania in Sept. (where by chance sat close to President George Washington in church); in Philadelphia they met and were helped by Joseph F. Lewis, a banker, who became their friend; they settled for a while at Pittsburg. Pennsylvania in Nov. 1796, then early in 1797 Harman went on to Marietta in the Ohio Valley, Margaret joining him there later for a while at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania in Nov. 1/96, then early in 1/97 Harman went on to Marietta in the Ohio Valley, Margaret joining him there later In March 1797 Harman purchased for $4,453 from Elijah Backus, a Marietta lawyer, a farm consisting of upper half (179 acres) of "Backus Island" or "Isle de Belpre" ("Belpre Island", named from adjacent town Belpre or Belle-Prarie in Ohio, meaning "Beautiful Prairie" or "Beautiful Meadow"); Their island was largest of a group of five islands, 3 to 4 miles in length & 1/3 mile wide at it's widest point, 297 acres in total, located in the Ohio River (at border of W. Virginia & Ohio) at the mouth of the "Little Kanawha"; 15 miles below Marietta and two miles below both Parkersburg, West Virginia & Belpre, Ohio; Elijah Backus had bought the whole island in 1792, for about $900 Virginia currency

On moving to the island Harman & Margaret added to and lived in an abandoned wooden army blockhouse (built 1792 as a place of refuge during Indian Wars);

They acquired first ten later increased to 20 negro slaves; the island lay within the jurisdiction of Virginia (now West Virginia) where slavery was permitted althe

They acquired first ten, later increased to 20, negro slaves; the island lay within the jurisdiction of Virginia (now West Virginia) where slavery was permitted, although it was outlawed in neighbouring Ohio and throughout the entire North-West Territory;

In 1798 they commenced clearing a site and building, amid magnificent scenery, what was later to be called "...the most beautiful mansion west of the Allegheny Mountains...";
Timber used came from sawmill of Jonathan Sprague of Adams, Ohio; Completed late 1800, the white painted wooden house had two dependencies or wings, with barns, out-houses & other structures, was "surrounded by fine grounds & adorned with costly pictures"; It had cost "upwards of $30,000", consuming a large part of their fortune; There Harman built docks & acquired a small fleet of boats; In one dependency of the house lived the staff of negro slaves (see notes to left); In the other Harman experimented with chemistry & electrical apparatus; He collected books; he attempted to farm; he shot game, often assisted (because of poor sight) by his wife, who would aim the gun at a bird, telling him when to fire;

Harman Blennerhassett & his wife introduced smallpox vaccine to the Ohio valley, following Dr Jenner publishing his work on vaccination in 1798 and their own children being vaccinated in New York; Harman was JP (Magistrate) for Wood Co. 1799; The "Republican" (now renamed "Democratic") Party in Virginia in 1800 formed County "Committees of Correspondence" to support Thomas Jefferson in the presidential election; Harman BH "of Marietta" was on the committee for Wood Co.; he became a US citizen at Virginia 7.3.1803; With Dudley Woodbridge Sr. of Marietta (b.-in-law of Elijah Backus) & his son Dudley Jr., Harman invested in chain of mercantile stores based at Marietta, & a shipbuilding enterprise

In 1805 Harman was visited by Col. Aaron Burr (1756-1836); Burr had been Lt.Col. in the army of the American Revolution; a lawyer in N.York; Attorney-General of the U.S. in 1789; U.S. Senator 1791-97 & leader of the Republican Party in the Senate; & Vice-President of USA in 1800-05, under Thomas Jefferson (1743-1826); Burr had tied with Jefferson in the 1800 U.S. Presidential election & was elected Vice-President by ballot of the house of representatives; Burr was in public disgrace, indicted for Murder by both the States of NY & of NJ for killing Alexander Hamilton, another hero of the American Revolution, in a duel at N.Jersey on 11.7.1804; Burr devised, with Gen.James Wilkinson, a plan to build a vast empire in the south and western territories of North America, by separating New Orleans & the trans-Appalachian states from the Union, colonising what is now Texas (then a part of N. Mexico)

thus he planned to establish an empire under his own rule, west of the Mississippi; Financial backing came from son-in-law Joseph Alston & from Blennerhassett, he legally acquiring MYTHS & LEGENDS OF BLENNERHASSETT ISLAND title to more than a million acres of land in Orleans Territory; Harman Blennerhassett conspired in Burr's plan, not only providing financial backing but donating a large sum by procuring boats, supplies, arms, provisions & men, his island becoming HQ for the enterprise; For the expedition he ordered in Sept.1806 15 flat-bottomed boats or "batteaux", ten The PUTNAM HOUSE at Belpre A persistent local legend about the Putnam House in Belpre has it that during a party held at the house in 1800 Margaret Blennerhassett etched the name of her host A.W.Putnam (or even her own name) in the glass of a window, using her diamond ring; This story is discredited; there is an inscription at the house, etched in window glass, but it says A.W.Putnam Belpre June 2 1820", so is not by Margaret Blennerhassett! [Ms. "Social Life at the Putnam House in Belpre" by Laura Curtis Preston 1911] There is a story of Aaron Burr visiting the Blennerhassetts in the company of a Russian duchess, carrying a fabulous yellow diamond in his luggage; the diamond was "lost" on the Island and never seen again until it surfaced at Cincinnati in the 1880s! There have been stories of buried treasure on Blennerhassett Island from the post-Civil War period and they still flourish today Harman Blennerhassett owned a very valuable mourning ring, given to him at the funeral of his brother-in-law Admiral de Courcy in the 1820s; the present location of this ring is unknown, but was once in the possession of Abigail , wife of Harman's son Joseph Lewis Blennerhassett JOSEPH LEWIS BLENNERHASSETT - TYNDALL family connection Joseph Lewis Blennerhassett's (K 14) 1st wife Charlotte Keen had a sister Ann Keen, who m.est.c1840 Dr Samuel Tyndall, MD (b.c1801 d.c1841-51) of Plymouth, Devon, England; their son Joseph Tyndall (b.25.6.1840 Plymouth) in Aug. 1862 (aged about 21) resided in Wales His uncle Joseph Lewis BH, in a letter of 9-Aug-1862 to Mr Munroe of "Nursery" at Nickerie, Surinam, wrote that he had, on behalf of his nephew Joseph Tyndall "...satisfactorily arranged all his business by appointing his cousin Joseph de Veer Tyndall as his agent in the colony..."; this Joseph de Veer Tyndall (b.c1828 Surinam) was Joseph Tyndall's 1st cousin, a wealthy ship & plantation owner in Surinam, son of Henry de Veer Tyndall of "Nursery" Estate, Nickerie, Surinam; On 4.8.1863 Mrs Alice Blennerhassett of St.Louis wrote to Joseph de Veer Tyndall speaking of the "death of our mutual friend Mr. Blennerhassett" discussing jewelry and other articles belonging to the family that had been in the possession of Joseph but which were now missing HARMAN BLENNERHASSETT and LEWIS KERR of NASSAU, BAHAMAS A suggestion that the Bahama Islands "...gave him (HB) a shelter during the closing years of his life..." is completely unfounded; the Bahamas being substituted for the Channel Islands. Lewis Carr was born in Ireland, his elder brother being secretary to Governor of Culcutta, India; Ensign Lewis Carr went with the army to Culcutta as an engineer for two years; he later moved to Kingston, Jamaica where he studied law, then to Nassau, Bahamas where he practised law; He served as speaker of the House of Assembly for many years & was subsequently as Attorney General for the Bahamas: During the 1870s a fictitious story circulated claiming Harman Blennerhassett was Lewis Kerr, that Harman Blennerhassett had taken the name Lewis Kerr (sometimes written vice-versa): that he had left his wife & moved to Nassau in the Bahamas, that it "gave him a shelter during the closing years of his life"; this story asserts that Harman settled at Nassau in the Bahamas, assumed the name of Lewis Kerr (sometimes "Carr"), practised Law, becoming Attorney General; that "another wife consoled him for the absence of Mrs Blennerhassett, who once discovered his retreat but was spirited out of the island, and maintained on a separate allowance" ["The Bahamas" by S.G.W. Benjamin, in "Harper's New Monthly Magazine" vol.49, issue 294, Nov.1874, p.766] & ["Paternal Recollections" by Robert Bennett Wynkoop]

40 feet & five 50 feet long, from Joseph Barker of Muskingum, they being delivered about the end of Nov. 1806; In addition there was to be a single large keel-boat for transporting supplies and housing the Blennerhassett family; In support of the views of Burr, Harman published a series of papers in the 'Ohio Gazette' under the signature 'Querist'; They were betrayed by Gen. James Wilkinson, Governor of the Louisiana Territory, who revealed the plan by writing to the President; The U.S. Government viewed the plan as treason, seeing it as a plot to dismember USA, & on 27.11.1806 President Thomas Jefferson issued proclamation warning U.S. citizens against participating in an illegal expedition against Spanish lands Burr's whole force at no time exceed 150 men; On 6.12.1806 Col. Comfort Tyler landed at Blennerhassett Island with four boats & about 30 men, some of whom were armed; In Dec. 1806 Burr was at the mouth of the Cumberland River with 60 recruits, waiting for a flotilla of keelboats and supplies of men & munitions being assembled at Blennerhassett Island, but they never arrived; On 11.12.1806, shortly after Harman Blennerhassett left the island to join Aaron Burr, President Jefferson sent Wood County (Virginia) Militia to invade Blennerhassett Island, "...to end the plans of Aaron Burr and Harman Blennerhassett to lead a group of settlers to establish a colony on the Baron Bastrop lands in the Southwest..."; The Militia looted & badly damaged the house, Harman's wife Margaret being captured; she fled downriver on 17.12.1806 On 19.2.1807 Burr and his forces were intercepted on the lower Mississippi in Alabama; Burr stood trial at Richmond, Virginia in March 1807 on a charge of "Treasonable Designs Against Mexico"; he then faced a second trial, charged with the "misdemeanour" of "Levying War Against the King of Spain, a Nation at Peace with America"; Others arrested but not tried were Harman Blennerhassett, Gen. Adair, Gen. Dayton, Swartwout, Col. Comfort Tyler, Smith, Bellman (Bollman?) and Ogden; In 1807 a mob at Baltimore, Maryland, hanged Blennerhassett in effigy together with Burr, Marshall and Luther Martin; Harman was placed in Virginia State Penitentiary at Richmond for some months, indicted for high treason; Harman's case did not come to trial and he was released in 1807, following Burr's acquittal on both charges; Burr's two trials lasted 53 days; During one of these trials it was famously said of Blennerhassett, by a business partner, that he had "all sorts of sense except common sense..."; Aaron Burr's lawyer, William Wirt (1772-1834; Attorney-General of US 1817-29), gave during Burr's trial an eloquent & famous address in defence of Harman, beginning "Who is Blennerhassett..."; this speech appears in "Reports of the Trials of Col. Aaron Burr, late vice-president of the US" (1808; vol.2 pp.96-98); Also a US school text in "National Fifth Reader: Elocution & Literature" 1866 under the title "Blennerhassett's Temptation" (speech pp.412-415, story p.133); The American author Washington Irvine attended one or both of Burr's trials, writing about Burr and Blennerhassett; In January 1808 the US Circuit Court at Chillicothe, Ohio, indicted Burr & Blennerhassett for "...conspiring against the domain of Spain...", but trials did not take place The failure of Burr's scheme left Harman financially ruined; the Island was rented to a friend who was subsequently dispossessed, creditors taking over; a "Writ of Foreign Attachment" issued by Robert Miller of Lexington, Kentucky, on "lands & chattels of Harman Blennerhassett", to meet Harman's debts (pub. in Marietta "Ohio Gazette & Virginia Herald" 9.9.1807); The island was leased to Mr Miller, a farmer, who raised hemp; on 3.3.1811 three of Miller's slaves left the island in a canoe, which then capsized, one man being drowned; The remaining two, returning to the island cold & wet, for warmth took refuge in the cellar of the mansion's north dependency (wing) where drying hemp was stored; Their candle accidentally set alight the drying hemp & the house burned to the ground, the two chimney stacks being all that remained standing; another source says a female slave caused the fire; The island eventually sold 1817 to Joseph Lewis of Philadelphia (friend of Harman & Margaret, after whom their youngest son had been named), the sale realizing $10,000 for Harman In the early 20th century all that remained of the mansion was "old Blennerhassett well", an ancient sycamore tree (since died) close to a wooden bungalow (now gone) built c1835 on the foundations of the north dependency, over the cellar (on old postcards this bungalow is described as "Blennerhassett House on Blennerhassett Island"); The fine stone gatepost seen in front of the bungalow on postcards was originally part of the north entrance gate to the estate, but was moved during the 19th C.; soon after the mansion was burnt its stone doorstep was removed from the island and placed in front of the house built in 1811 by Lewis Neale at Washington Bottom, on the bank of the Ohio overlooking Blennerhassett Island; the doorstep has since been moved from the front of the house to the east side, to help preserve it Harman purchased c1807/8 a cotton plantation of 1000 acres "...with sufficient number of slaves to work it..." in Claiborne Co., Mississippi; on the Mississippi River at St.Catherine's, north of Natchez & 6 miles above Gibsonport (Port Gibson), in what was then the Mississippi Territory; This they named "La Cache" ("The Hiding Place") and there they built a house, partly modelled on their home at Blennerhassett Island, but without the two dependencies (wings); a Freemason, Harman was member of Harmony Lodge No.1 at Natchez; His wife ran plantation for him, but despite her best efforts this venture was unsuccessful, partly because of the embargo of the War of 1812 & subsequent collapse of cotton market; They offered the property for sale in 1814 but a buyer was not found until 1819, when the plantation "...with 22 negroes..." sold for $28,000 realizing just enough to pay debts & have a small sum left over for investment After an extended visit to the Emmets in N.York they moved to Montreal, Lower Canada (now Quebec) where he worked as Advocate & Attorney 1819-22; An attempt to obtain a Judgeship in Canada failed; In 1822 he returned alone to Ireland in an unsuccessful attempt to obtain by reversionary claim some of the large estate of Dean Harman, in Co.Longford, to which he had been led to believe he had legal title by a Dublin solicitor named Berwick; his claim was that following the recent death of Lord Ross he had become heir-at-law to his g.g.father Col. Wentworth Harman, by right of descent; Harman enquired about this property in a letter from Montreal dated 26.7.1819 From Ireland he went to England, staying with his sister Avice Blennerhassett (K 01) at Bath, Somerset; in Bath Avice had previously lived at 18 Vineyards, Bath, Somerset 1805-12 (she also owned 19 Vinyards, which she rented out for income); at 4 Cottage Crescent, Old Wells Road, Bath from 1812; and at 6 Cottage Crescent in 1819; Harman returned to Quebec in 1824 to fetch his wife and youngest son, Joseph Lewis BH, taking them to live with him and his sister Avice at 8 Cottage Crescent, Old Wells Rd, Bath (this became No.7 at some date between 1826 and 1841, renamed Bloomfield Crescent 1872, renamed Bloomfield Rd c1941/47); Bloomfield (Cottage) Crescent still stands, a fine Georgian terrace on a hill outside Bath with spectacular views overlooking the city, and it was here Avice provided refuge for Harman's family 1824-26; Avice granted a property (perhaps 19 Vinyards, Bath?) to Harman by deed of covenant dated 10.8.1824; By his Will (dated 25.9.28; codicil 30.6.29; pr. 14.2.31) Harman appears to have left what had been his sister Avice's property at 18-19 Vineyards, Bath to John Kingdom of Bathearton, near Bath; this is strange as Avice left "her home in Bath" (18 Vineyards) to Harman's widow Margaret, who sold it in 1844 Because of Margaret's declining health, in 1826 Harman, Margaret & Lewis left England with his sister Avice Blennerhassett (K 01), for the milder climate of St. Aubin in Jersey, C.I. In 1828 they moved to St Peter Port, Guernsey, Channel Islands, residing as tenants at No.1 Mount Row (corner of Mount Row & Prince Albert Rd); Harman d.2.2.1821 (not 1.2.1831) at St.Peter Port after suffering a series of strokes. He was bur. at "Le Cimetere des Estrangers" ("The Strangers Cemetery") on Ruette Meurtriere (later renamed Upland Road) on 7.2.1831 [St Peter Port Town Ch. reg. p.217], a headstone erected on his grave by his widow Margaret and son (Joseph) Lewis Blennerhassett; In March 1967 (or 1968?) his remains, with others from that part of the Strangers' Cemetery, were removed & reburied in a common grave at nearby Foulon Cemetery, adjoining Upland Road. The land was afterwards used for a garage (car repair business, later a car park), a Cinema and a "Royal Bank of Canada" building. All but one of these headstones were destroyed. A monument, marking their new resting place at Foulon Cemetery and including the single surviving headstone, was erected by the Bank in memory of those whose remains were thus moved. Fortunately, the wording of the inscription on Harman Blennerhassett's headstone was recorded and published in [LOWTHER, 1939 ed. p.78]. What can one say about such vandalism? This kind of destruction happened all too often in cemeteries during the second half of the 20th century, almost always for someone's monetary gain. Harman & his sister Avice Blennerhassett (K 01) were godparents to Avice Nelburn, daughter of their "faithful nurse & friend" Mrs Mary Nelburn, nee Kimber (K 1), a milliner, who according to Harman's 1828 Will "...hath saved my life as well as that of my said sister (Avice) on more than one occasion - and I am mainly beholden to the services of her friendship, not only for the means of subsisting my family during the last four years but moreover for the very property I am now disposing of by this my Will..."; What services Mary Nelburn performed to warrant such gratitude is unknown; Grace Goulder, in her column "Ohio Scenes & Citizens" for "The Cleveland Plain Dealer" newspaper, c1961 seems to suggest that Avice Nelburn may perhaps have been an illegitimate dau. of Harman Blennerhassett, but no evidence has been found for this

JOHN BLENNERHASSETT "THE EVERGREEN" "... for many years a very prominent solicitor in Dublin..." "He was familiarly known among his professional brothers as "The Evergreen", because of his youthful appearance which he retained up to the termination of his long life..."; this quote is from a biographical paper "John Blennerhassett" by "Sigma" in "The Kerry Archaeological Magazine" >> Rev. Conway No.19 October 1917, pp.191-195; the paper contains a monochrome illustration of a portrait miniature miniature by Buck of Cork, at that time owned by historian James Franklin Fuller (K 31) and now by his descendant Teresa Mary Stokes (K 31) In 1815 John Blennerhassett leased land at Bolinready, Ballycanew and Gorey in Co.Wexford; He appears to have purchased it in 1836, when he was agent for the sale of the estates of the "Earl of Mount Norris' (Mountmorres); This land was sold out of the family 1858; He had land on the Montpelier-Stradbrook Rd Monkstown, Dublin [GV Dublin 1848-52] NOTE: Other Dublin Solicitors (no family connection to John BH above is known): Major Arthur Blennerhassett Leech, (author of "Irish Riflemen in America", published in London 1875) d.cJun1894 Hastings, Sussex, England; Served apprenticeship in John Blennerhassett's solicitor's office (IRE 14) In 1820 "A. Blennerhassett, KCE, Attorney" worked in Major Arthur BH's legal practice at 27 Lower Mount Street, Dublin (IRE 12) "Williams & Blennerhassett Esgrs. Attorneys" were at 17 Anglesea Street (a shared house), Dublin in 1820 (IRE 12)

Commander GODDARD BLENNERHASSETT, Captain RN (bapt.29.9.1778 Tralee; d.1843)

Royal Navy Lt. 5.11.1796 (or 10.11.1796?), Commander 11.11.1808, Captain 1810;

Lt. HMS "Brilliant" 1800; Lt. HMS "Orpheus" 1803;

1st Lt. HMS "Amethyst" 27.7.1804 to 1808, his Lt.'s log books for 27.7.1804-26.7.1806 survive at the Nat. Maritime Museum at Greenwich, but his logs for 1806-7 are missing; "Amethyst" was a 36 gun frigate (42 guns in 1808) under Capt. Michael Seymour; "On the evening of 10.10.1808 "Amethyst", cruising between L'orient and Ile de Groix, was fired on by a battery at Larmor & shortly after sighted a French frigate coming eastwards before the wind ("Thetis", 44 guns, crew of 330 & 106 soldiers, sailing from Lorient to Martinique with troops and provisions). Capt Seymour burnt false fire & showed blue lights to warn ships in the offing & gave chase. Close action was then maintained for nearly two & a half hours. At one time the enemy ran on board Amethyst with her jib-boom between that ship's mizen and main rigging, but with the two ships doing nearly 10 knots soon broke apart. Amethyst then crossed the bows of her opponent & raked her but shortly after Amethyst's mizzen mast fell on the quarter deck. Before the Frenchman could escape he too lost his mizen-mast. The enemy frigate then attempted to board but his forecastle was swept clear of men by another British broadside as the fluke of Amethyst's bower anchor entered his foremost main-deck port and held him fast. The enemy was several times set on fire and eventually boarded and taken possession of. Shortly after "Triumph" arrived, to assist Amethyst which had made two feet of water, and then "Shannon" which took off prisoners..."

The captured "Thetis" was towed to Plymouth by HMS "Shannon", arriving 15.11.1808; In a letter of that date to Adm. Lord Gambier reporting the capture, Capt. Seymour wrote: "...At half past one the Shannon received prisoners & took Thetis in tow. She is wholly dismasted dreadfully shattered and had the commander and 135 men killed, 102 wounded, among whom are all her officers except three. Amethyst has lost 19 killed & 51 wounded. "No language can convey an adequate idea of the cool and determined bravery shown by every officer and man of this ship, and their truly noble behaviour has laid me under the greatest obligation. The assistance I received from my gallant friend the first lieutenant, Mr Goddard Blennerhassett, on officer of great merit and ability, is beyond all encomium. Lieuts. Hill and Crouch, and Mr Fair, the master, are happily preserved to add lustre to his Majesty's service..."; Capt. Seymour received a gold medal and the freedom of the City of Cork in a silver box, also created a Baronet c1809; a silver medal was granted

1st Lt. Goddard Blennerhassett was promoted Commander 11.11.1808, the day after this action; In Nov. 1810 he was appointed to the command of HMS "Phipps" at Plymouth (14 guns; a Dutch schooner purchased by the Royal Navy in 1808 & broken-up in 1813) but did not take command; He instead took command (late 1810-early 1811) of the brig sloop HMS "Challenger" (16 guns) recently returned from a convoy to the West Indies, and assigned to the English Channel; Challenger was captured on 12.3.1811 by a French frigate and an armed store ship, in fog off led eB Batz (Seven Islands) near Roscoff (Isle-de-France?), after a running fight of four hours; Capt. Blennerhassett was taken prisoner; At court-marshal on 27.5.1814, following his return from captivity, was honourably acquitted of blame for the loss of his ship, which the court decided was due to the fore top-masts being shot away; He was highly praised for seaman-like efforts to avoid capture & rejoin the British squadron off St.Malo; As a prisoner missed chances for promotion, remaining a half-pay Commander until promoted to Retired Captain on 10.9.1840 in 1849 to all survivors; "Thetis" was repaired and taken into the Royal Navy as HMS "Brune"

History of HMS "Amethyst" (36 guns);

1799 launched at Deptford; Capt. John Cooke, English Channel

1801 joined squadron under Sir Edward Pellew at Ouiberon Bay

1802 Capt. Henry Glynn, cruising against smugglers

1803 Capt. Alexander Campbell (dismissed 1804, misconduct)

1805 Capt. Spranger, at Spithead "for foreign service"

1807 Capt. Michael Seymour, 1st Lt. Goddard Blennerhassett

1809 Rear Admiral Sir Richard Strachan

1811 Capt. Jacob Walton (wrecked in Plymouth Sound)

History of HMS "Challenger" (Brig Sloop, 16 guns);

Launched at Blackwall 1806; off Harve-Sheerness 1807 & Downs 1808 under Capt. William Barnham Rider; Capt. Rider was Court-marshalled in 1810, losing his commission, but restored 1811; with Rear-Admiral Strachan, in West Scheldt August 1809 & West Indies 1810; on return from WI she was commanded late 1810-early 1811 by Capt. Goddard Blennerhassett & captured (see above); After her capture, Challenger was bought from the French by an American named Preeble living in Paris; during the war between Britain and the USA she became an American privateer, renamed "True Blooded Yankee" sailing out of the French ports of Brest, Morlaix & L'Orient with a crew said to be mainly British; On a cruise in St.George's Channel & the Irish Sea she captured the "Fame" of Belfast, the "George" from Kinsale Co.Cork, the "Margaret" of Hull & four other vessels between Holyhead & the Skerries; The "Margaret" was recaptured by the British & taken into Plymouth; During a cruise of 37 days she captured 27 vessels, held an island on the coast of Ireland for 6 days & burnt 7 vessels in a harbour in Scotland; later she took part in cruise with privateer "Bunker Hill", returning to France laden with booty inc. 12,0000 pounds of raw silk & 18 bales of Turkish carpets

"LADY FRANCES BLENNERHASSETT"

>: James Blennerhassett Power

In Plunkett family tradition the ancestor and matriarch of the Blennerhassett-Plunkett family in India is named "Lady Frances Blennerhassett":

Why does tradition name her "Frances" and not "Maria"?

Maria Plunkett (nee Blennerhassett), b.c1836, true ancestor of the Blennerhassett-Plunkett family, had a vounger sister Frances "Fanny" Henrietta Power (nee Blennerhassett) born 1839 (K 36); Maria Blennerhassett Plunkett dving c1836 when her son James Blennerhassett Plunkett was aged 3, and her husband Capt. James Thomas Irvine Plunkett dying when the boy was aged 10, it is probable the boy was subsequently raised by his aunt Frances "Fanny" Henrietta Blennerhassett and her husband James Otway Power; she then being remembered by him (and by his descendants) as his mother;

Why does tradition name her "Lady" when she had no title?

It may be that, after her death, the family described Frances as a lady, as coming from a good gentry family, subsequent oral tradition mis-interpreting this as refering to a title, "Lady Frances Blennerhassett";

this newspaper report [St Louis Post-Dispatch Sat. 6.8.1904, p1] describes the filing (or proving), on 6.8.1904 at the St Louis Probate Court, of the 1855 Will of Edward Conway Blennerhassett (d.10.12.1855); the benificiaries, all Edward's children, said to be Henry BH (deceased), Richard Spotswood BH "of Niagara Falls, N.Y." (living) and Mrs Thereasa BH Adams (living); This is difficult to comprehend, as by 1904 all of Edward Blennerhassett's children were deceased;

1. Mrs Theresa Blennerhassett Adams (K 43) was Edward's g.dau. not his dau. (raised as dau. of Richard S. BH d.1857, K 42);

2. Edward's son Richard Spotswood BH d.1857 at St.Louis, Missouri (K 42) and he did not reside near Niagara Falls, NY; however, Edward's son Robert Spotswood Blennerhassett (K 40) did reside in New York State not far from Niagara Falls; at Alexander, Genesee Co., NY; at Clarence, Erie Co., NY; at Shelby, Orleans Co., NY; at Oakfield, Genesee Co., NY

3. Edward's son Henry Blennerhassett d.1840 in India (K 36):

This report appears to suggest that Edward's son Henry Blennerhassett was a sea captain in British merchant marine; that his father had not heard of him since he sailed from Naples in 1853; that he was his father's favourite son and that his father never accepted he was dead; that he was perhaps "slain by the Barbary pirates infesting the North African coast; none of this fits Henry Blennerhassett, who served in the army of the Nizam of Hyderabad in India from 1825 to 1840; surely these details must relate to a different Henry Blennerhasset, perhaps a g.son rather than a son of Edward Conway BH?

[St Louis Post-Dispatch, Saturday 6.8.1904, p.1] illustrated above, states:

"BLENNERHASSETT'S WILL FILED HERE" - "Document Fifty Years Old Brought to St. Louis Recalls the Story of Aaron Burr."

"The will of Edward Blennerhassett, written at St Louis in 1855 by a member of the famous family of blennerhassett-Burr fame, and a cousin of Harman Blennerhassett of Ohio river island fame, was filed in the St. Louis probate court Saturday morning by Lucier (sic - should be Luther) M. Shreve of Chicago (K 42), a one-time well-known St. Louis attorney'

"The delay in the probation of the will has been occasioned by litigation over the estate of Edward Blennerhassett"

"Mr Shreve and Attorney Michael J. Murphy, who accompanied him, say that the estate is in Ireland, that it is worth $2,000,000 and that Edward Blennerhassett's right to share in it has just recently been established, wherefore the will is brought forth and filed for probation."

"The beneficiaries of the testament are Mrs Theresa Adams, a daughter*, and Henry and Richard S. Blennerhassett, sons of the testator," "Richard S. Blennerhassett lives at Niagara Falls, N.Y. His sister, Mrs Adams*, is also alive,"

"Henry Blennerhassett is dead, and his brother and sister will divide his share in the estate between them. Henry was a sea captain in the British merchant marine. Two years prior to the writing of the Will (i.e. 1853) he was sailing in the mediterranean Sea out of the Bay of Naples. About that time his father ceased to hear from him and the aged man feared something had befallen the son." "Henry was his favorite child. The old man loved him and would not believe he was dead. He kept a light burning in the house at night, saying it was for Henry. He refused to lock the door, saying that Henry might come." "Mr Shreve says it was almost positively ascertained that the missing son was slain by the Barbary pirates infesting the North African coast."

NOTE: the source of the above newspaper item was lawyer Luther Martin Shreve (1820-1906), formerly of St.Louis but in 1904 of Chicago, and his fellow Attorney Michael J. Murphy; Luther Martin Shreve had formerly been a partner in the St.Louis law firm of Richard Spotswood Blennerhassett (K 42), brother of Henry Blennerhassett (K 36) is it possible Luther Martin Shreve may have confused this Henry BH with Capt. John Wilson Blennerhassett (p.LL 09) of Greenock, Liverpool, Lancashire (b.1834), who, although unrelated, was a merchant seaman & master mariner at the correct dates (Chief Mate 1851; Captain 1856);

he could be said to have disappeared, in that when Capt. of the merchant ship "Hercyna" of Liverpool 1859, he died at Mobile, Alabama, USA "of inflamed lungs" on 22.3.1859; he is said to have spent about two years in hospital "at New Orleans" after suffering several strokes; Mobile is 129 miles from N. Orleans; his death registered with British Consul [Mobile, vol.2 p.1169]

Elizabeth O'Brien Brown Blennerhassett Peacock" (mother of Maria Blennerhassett Plunkett & Frances Henrietta Blennerhassett Power) died in 1855, Jane's 4 children by her 2nd marriage to Thomas Peacock MD (Thomasina Rachel, Edward James George, Jessie Charles O'Brien, Isabella Ruth) are in Peacock family tradition said to have been raised by their mother's Blennerhassett step-children; In 1855 the only survivor of the five Blennerhassett children was Frances"Fanny" Henrietta Blennerhassett (b.1839, aged 16) who married c1855 to James Otway Power and who is believed to have also raised her nephew James Blennerhassett Plunkett, son of Frances' elder sister Maria Blennerhassett Plunkett (d.1856).

  "...after several years of successful existence it dwindled and was abandoned..."; Blennerhassett lived at Shelby, Orleans Co., NY in 1855;
  In 1847-60 he taught "Ancient & Modern Languages" at "Carey Seminary", Oakfield, Genesee Co., N.York, a highly regarded private school opened in 1844;
  He later taught languages at the "Le Roy Academic Institute", Le Roy, New York, founded c1865 for 250 pupils; He lived with his wife at the school
  "Boarding House", occupied in 1867 by some 18 students and three teachers; This boarding house is now home to the "Le Roy Historical Society"
  "The Le Roy Pennysaver" on-line magazine of 29.1.2001 tells of Hattie Brown, a student at the "Boarding House" in 1867, who remembered Robert S. Blennerhassett
   "...with a marvellous memory and absolutely devoid of any practical acumen whatever..."; "I don't know whether they ever did or what became of the trunks but soon after they went away, the younger sister, who was always delicate, died...; The Blennerhassett's used to declare the house haunted. They used to hear those trunks dragged around at night."; Another ex-student wrote a marvellous description of Blennerhassett "...bringing home a can of oysters from town. He had the can opened at the store because he couldn't use the can opener and he was walking most carefully, not to spill the oysters..."

MARIETTA BLENNERHASSETT

Marietta Blennerhassett (L 11 & K 43) was living after that date, but appears to be of a different family, although she claimed that she "...is last of the Blennerhassetts..." (i.e. of St.Louis family) and that Harman Blennerhassett "...was her father's uncle..."; Marietta Blennerhassett had a niece Mrs B.C. Liggett c1926; Marietta Blennerhassett's 1925-6 correspondence (8 letters) with Warren Wood, author of "The Tragedy of the Deserted Isle" (about Harman Blennerhassett & Blennerhassett Island, West Virginia), is at the West Virginia State Archives Ms. collection, Charleston, WV [Warren Wood collection, Ms.80-147]

"BLENNERHASSETT ISLAND" DOCUMENTS owned by Therese Martini Byron Blennerhassett Theresa "Therese" Martini Byron Blennerhassett (wife of Richard Spotswood Blennerhassett) was author of Ms. "Notes on the Life of Harman Blennerhassett"; she also edited a Ms. "Reminiscences of Harman Blennerhassett", compiled by his son Joseph Lewis Blennerhassett and arranged undated Ms. "Poems by the late Mrs Harman BH, compiled by her son Joseph Lewis BH"; all of these Mss. are among the "Blennerhassett Papers" formerly at Campus Martius Museum, Marietta, Ohio and now at "The Ohio Historical Society", Columbus, Ohio (K 07); Therese obtained the personal papers of Harman & Margaret BH of Blennerhassett Island and their family, from their son Joseph Lewis BH (K 07) before his death in 1862, at her own death bequeathing them to her dau. Therese Blennerhassett Adams (K 43); Therese BH Adams divided the papers into two lots; the majority (including Ms. from 1755 to 1866 & six vols of Harman Blennerhassett's journal) she deposited in 1921 at the Ms. division of the Library of Congress, Washington DC, known as the "Blennerhassett Papers"; these are microfilmed, on 3 reels; The remainder she kept for herself, inc. letters of Harman & Margaret BH and their children, Ms. poems

A grand-niece <???> of Mrs MacGregor, living in Georgia, then inherited the collection; This g.niece sold them to an antiquarian book dealer; this dealer sold them to another dealer, who in 1972 sold them for $2000 to Campus Martius Museum, Marietta, Ohio;

by Margaret BH, a Ms. booklet titled "The Emigrant's Guide" written by Margaret BH c1820s; also much

Blennerhassett Adams in 1913 these were inherited by her daughter Mary Blennerhassett Adams Green, then at Mary's death by Mrs Harman Blennerhassett MacGregor, of Marblehead, Massachusetts (she correspondence of the St.Louis branch of the Blennerhassett family; Following the death of Therese

Campus Martius Museum is a part of "The Ohio Historical Society", who have since moved all their Blennerhassett collection to their main Ohio Historical Society facility at Columbus, Ohio, where they are also known as the "Blennerhassett Papers"; these have been microfilmed

"Missouri Historical Society" of St.Louis has "Blennerhassett Family Papers, 1793" (Ref: A0136) containing letters from Margaret BH to Henry Clay regarding her claim against the government; the travel journal of Stephen Randol made for her; journals & stories written by her friends; and Ms. poems by Margaret BH in her own handwriting; These same poems feature in an undated Ms. "Poems by the Late Mrs Harman Blennerhassett", compiled by her son Joseph Lewis BH & arranged by Mrs Therese Martini Byron BH (K 42), which Ms. is in "BH Papers" at "The Ohio Historical Society"

MARIETTA BLENNERHASSETT

"West Virginia State Archives", Charleston, W. Virginia (Warren Wood collection, Ms. 80-147) has eight letters of 1925-26 between Marietta Blennerhassett (L 11 & K38) and Warren Wood, author of "The Tragedy of the Deserted Isle" (about BH Island); Marietta BH appears to be of a different family

A collection of Blennerhassett Ms. owned by Maria P.Woodbridge of Marietta, author of "The Latter Days of the Blennerhassetts" (published in "Lippincotts Magazine" vol.23, Issue 134, Feb. 1879), were in 2000 deposited at the "Blennerhassett Historical State Park" museum in Parkersburg by Mrs Penrose, last of the Woodbridge family of Marietta; these included drafts of Maria Woodbridge's writings and several letters by Therese Blennerhassett Adams

1904 & 1913 CLAIMS ON A SUPPOSED "HARMAN BLENNERHASSETT" INHERITANCE

In 1904 & 1913 attempts were made to locate legal heirs of Harman Blennerhassett (K 14), he having no living descendants; Blennerhassett cousins in USA were approached by lawyers in Ireland, who thought that Harman Blennerhassett's heirs may have a claim on an estate in Ireland The land in question may have been either:

1. what Harman Blennerhassett had attempted unsuccessfully to recover by reversionary claim in 1822; His claim at that time was to the large estate of Dean Harman, to which he was led to believe he had legal title (by a Dublin solicitor Mr Berwick) following the death of Lord Ross, becoming heir to Dean Harman by right of descent; or

2. part of the Castle Conway estate sold by Harman Blennerhassett (breaking the entail) to Lord Ventry

In 1904 attempts were made to establish the right of living descendants of Edward Conway BH Blennerhassett (b.1776 d.1855 - p.K 42) & his brother Henry Blennerhassett, RN (b.1777 d.1805 unm.) to a share of an estate in Ireland "...that it is worth $2,000,000 and that Edward Blennerhassett's right to share in it has just been established..."; this caused Edward Blennerhassett's 50 year old Will finally to be proved, to protect the interests of his heirs (see "The Washington Post" 7.8.1904) Among potential claimants were mentioned the following:

Richard Spotswood Blennerhassett

his daughter Theresa "Therese" Bodecia Blennerhassett (a.k.a. Therese Blennerhassett Adams)

NOTE:

In 2002 Mashelle Kloppel had an old tin box found at an American antique store, the tin lid illustrated with four men in uniform; On the back of the tin are their names Blennerhassett Greenhow, Mathews and Sharwood " (Sherwood?) I wonder if it is this

Richard Byron Blennerhassett and Theresa Bodecia Blennerhassett (later called "Theresa B'hassett-Adams") were twins (b.c1841/3) supposed to be one of two sets of twins born to Richard Spotswood Blennerhassett (K 42)

however, Thomas Thomas Spotswood B'hassett, brother of of Richard Spotswood Blennerhassett, also also had twins named Richard and Theresa (b.c1843 Missouri): it appears probable that Richard Blennerhassett also raised the twin children of his brother Thomas B'hassett; see note "TWINS" on K 47

"...at the <???> Point Military Training College, training for the army, when the war broke out, and so took to the field then...",

"...his brothers away in Virginia (Missouri?) joined the Confederate forces, so they fought in opposite camps..."; During the war "...when going to succour a wounded Confederate officer, he found it to be his brother..."

Mary Blennerhassett Adams inherited from her mother some letters of Harman & Margaret Blennerhassett and their family, also a collection of St.Louis Blennerhassett family correspondence (see NOTES to left); these she bequeathed to Mrs Harman Blennerhassett MacGregor, of Marblehead, Mass. (d,c1960; the wife of Harman Blennerhassett MacGregor, an actor, related but how I do not know) whose grand-niece living in Georgia inherited the collection; Most, but not all, of these Ms. are now at "The Ohio Historical Society", Columbus, Ohio & have been microfilmed; In the late 1950s she owned a Ms. letter written by Catherine BH Agnew (K 04), to her brother Harman Blennerhassett (K 07) on the subject of his marriage to her daughter Margaret, but the location of this letter is unknown

The Indiana "Fort Wayne Sentinel" 30.1.1913 reported her as making a claim to "...a British estate estimated to be worth about $2,000,000 which has been in other hands for nearly a century"; A similar report in the Saskatchewan, Canada "Tisdale Recorder" of 17.4.1913, reported her claim to be for an inheritance of lands in Ireland due to heirs of Harman Blennerhassett (K 07); another claimant was her uncle Richard Byron Blennerhassett of Buffalo, NY, USA 1913 See note 1904 & 1913 "Claims on a Supposed Harman Blennerhassett Inheritance" (K 43)

in 1890 it was written that "she resided with her daughter and her twin brother Richard Byron Blennerhassett in what might be called genteel poverty"

She is mentioned twice, as an old friend, in the Jan-Nov 1864 Civil War diary of Belle Edmondson (1840-1873)

In 1886 she inherited from her parents the "Blennerhassett Papers" of Harman & Margaret Blennerhassett & their family, and she also built an archive of the correspondence of her own branch of the Blennerhassett family from St.Louis; These documents now are partly at the "Library of Congress" in Washington DC and partly at "The Ohio Historical Society" in Columbus, Ohio (see NOTES to left)

Theresa returned alone to St Louis, telling no-one there of her marriage and having agreed that her husband would follow 2 weeks later, when they would make public their union; John Calvin Adams followed in Nov.1871, departing NY by train for St Louis, but tragically died on the way as result of injuries received in a railroad accident, he being thrown from the train; Therese continued to keep her marriage a secret from her family and the world, and when in Aug.1872 she gave birth to a daughter, who she named "Mary Blennerhassett", continued to reveal nothing

After a while Theresa Blennerhassett "adopted" a girl baby, to whom she had taken an uncontrollable fancy, and raised it as her own, which of course it was; The child remained in ignorance of her true relation to her 'foster mother' until she reached the age of 17 or 18 years, when in Oct.1890 her mother told her, declared the facts in court at St Louis and formally took the name "Blennerhassett Adams" for herself and Mary [San Fran. Call 10.11.1890 p.3] [NY Times 2.11.90]; The Blennerhassetts were a leading family of "the mound city" (as St.Louis was known) and Mrs Blennerhassett Adams remained prominent in St.Louis society

THOMAS SPOTSWOOD BLENNERHASSETT - CABINETMAKER Well known cabinet maker (maker of high quality furniture) working in New York, North Carolina (perhaps on the "other" Blennerhassett Island, see below), South Carolina, New Orleans, Missouri, Ohio and Texas: c1847-55 Thomas Spotswood Blennerhassett had two horses, worth $100; He operated a bedstead, chair & cabinet factory at Bonham, Faunin County, Texas c1853; For a short time lived at Fayetteville, Washington Co., Arkansas & constructed furniture there; On 15.11.1854 he purchased two pieces of land at Fayetteville, of 37.27 acres (Township 20N, Range 28W, Section 7, Baseline 05) and 40 acres (Township 20N, Range 29W, Section 12, Baseline 05); This Fayetteville land record & the [IGI] version of his marriage record c1854 have him named "Thomas L. Blennerhassett" in error: The "Arkansas Territorial Restoration Museum", Little Rock, Arkansas, has a few pieces of furniture made by him THE OTHER BLENNERHASSETT ISLAND (in North Carolina) Blennerhassett Island in North Carolina is perhaps named for Thomas S. Blennerhassett, from the time when he built furniture in North Carolina: Less well known than Harman Blennerhassett's Ohio River home (K12) is a another "Blennerhassett Island": Spelt that way until 1926 & later, the name was written "Blannerhasset Island" in 1939 but is now usually called "Blannahassett Island"; It is a small sandy island about 1/4 mile long, in the French Broad River at Marshall, Madison County, North Carolina; Although uninhabited & sometimes flooded by high water, a new high school for Marshall was built on the island in 1926; This school featured in Robert Ripley's "Believe It or Not" newspaper column as the only school in the United States to be located on an uninhabited island; now named "Marshall Elementary School" at 1, Blannahassett Island; In 1998 the first annual "River Fair" was held on the island; In the nearby town of Marshall is "Blannahassett Island Road" "North Carolina: A Guide to the Old North State" (University of N.Carolina Press 1939, p.463) states: "...The island is believed to have been named for Blennerhasset Island in the Ohio river, opposite Marietta, which figured in the ill-fated ambitions of Aaron Burr..." there is no reason given as to why this should be so - it is an improbable explanation

Williams (see p.BW 01) of Milltown Co.Kerry but no evidence found (issue) >> Arthur Blennerhassett d.bef.1774 >> Thomas Blennerhassett lost at sea; d.bef.1774 who was "BARNEY BLENNERHASSETT" at Brownsville area of Texas c1846-48 From a Brownsville Texas area local history newspaper item of c1846/48 ["McAllen Press" 5.3.1933]: "Barney Blannerhassett (sic), a young man of excellent family, who had been an adherent of Aaron Burr and knew the thrill of high daring, was another adventurer who strayed into the border country looking for more excitement. On one occasion his boldness had caused him to be seized by the Mexicans. He was being rather roughly handled when Mr. Neale chanced to pass the spot where he was tightly bound and threatened with death. He begged for laudanum that he might end the torture of the predicament he found himself in, but instead Mr. Neale interceded for him and secured his release". Following this, the article continues: "Runaway slaves were constantly using the crossing at Brownsville to escape into Mexico and Mr Neale was frequently appealed to by slave owners to help recover their property..." "Mr Neale" was William Neale (b.1807 Bexhill, Sussex, England d.1870 Brownsville, Texas) soldier & adventurer; Mayor of Brownsville, Texas, USA; This item based on diaries of William Neale (pub. as as "Century of Conflict, 1821-1913: Incidents in the lives of William Neale & William A. Neale..." 1966) In 1950 his home was given to Brownsville Art League & moved south of the U.S. Customs House; now "Brownsville Museum of Fine Art & Historic Neale Home", 230 Neale Drive, Brownsville, Texas; It is probable from the above event with "Barny Blannerhassett" occurred near Brownsville, Texas NOTE: "Barney" Blennerhassett may perhaps(?) be identical with one of:-1. Col. Edwin R. "Blenny" Blennerhassett, b.c1842 S. Carolina (K 47) - but perhaps he is too young. 2. Dominick Blennerhassett, b.c1801 at Blennerhassett Island, son of Harman & Margaret BH (K 14); He is said to have died c1828 "...in the wilderness near St.Louis...", having disappeared without trace; that he "...penetrated far into the western wilderness where he was supposed to have perished"; [LOWTHER, "Blennerhassett Island in Romance & Tragedy" 1936/9 Chapters 11 & 12] on p.76 tells us that Margaret on 27.6.1824 wrote to Harman that she had heard nothing from Dominick for a year, and on p.81 that "he disappeared at St.Louis in 1823, and the Mississippi is supposed to hold the secret of his fate"

["History of the State of Nevada", Thompson & West 1881, pp.460, 670] claims Edwin Blennerhassett was "...a grandson of the Blennerhassett of the Ohio, so celebrated in the story of Aaron Burr and his south-western empire..."; It is highly improbable Edwin was g.son of Harman Blennerhassett (K 14) because both Harman's known grandsons died young; It is far more probable Edwin was son of Thomas Spotswood Blennerhassett, the craftsman and travelling cabinet maker who is known to have worked in North Carolina and whose daughter Frances Blennerhassett was in South Carolina c1836

Edwin Blennerhassett moved to Nervada 1870/71, working as mining engineer ["History of the State of Nevada" by Thompson & West 1881, pp.460 & 670]; of Winnemucca, Humboldt Co., Nev. 1871-76; of Virginia City, Nev. 1876-77; of Silver City, Lyon Co., Nev. 1877-78; also of Gold Hill, Nev. 1877; Edwin Blennerhassett in 1878 described as "The gentleman from Gold Hill, Silver City & Virginia (he has run for office in all those unoffending towns)"

"...Mr Edward (sic) Blennerhassett, of Gold Hill, is with us. He says that business is improving in and about the Comstock, owing principally to the fact that a number of the smaller mines have again commenced operating, thus giving employment to many idle men..." [Reno Evening Gazette" 13.10.1877];

T.A.E. d.14.11.1827 (not 3.11.1827) [NY Evening Post" 15.11.1827] following a heart attack while presenting his case in the courthouse at New York City Hall; he died that evening; he is interred in shared vault in the graveyard of St.Mark's-in-the-Bowery church, New York, his grave marked by a stone inscribed with his name;

A marble obelisk (30ft high, 27 tons) was erected to his memory near City Hall, in the graveyard of St.Paul's Chapel, at Broadway & Fulton Street, New York; The emblem on this obelisk, a pair of clasped hands between the American Eagle & Irish harp, has been adopted as logo by "Archives of Irish America"; a memorial was placed by the NY Bar Association next to the NY courthouse, incorporating a white marble bust carved by his son Dr John Patten Emmet

m.11.6.1791 St.Mary's Ch., Dublin; Jane Patten of Clonmel, Co.Tipperary b.16.8.1771 Clonmel(?) d.10.11.1846 NY City; bur.12.11.1846 in Emmet family vault #148 at N.Y.City Marble Cem. (opened 1831 after death of her husbank) next to her close friend Margaret (Agnew) Blennerhassett (K 12) who d.1842; Therese BH Adams (K 43) wrote that the two friends were buried side-by-side

EMMETs & BLENNERHASSETTs at N.Y.C. MARBLE CEMETERY:

The New York City Marble Cemetery, at 52-74 E. 2nd Street (between 1st & 2nd Avenues) in Manhattan, opened 1831 as the second non-sectarian burial ground in the city; It was organized by Evert Bancker, Samuel Whittemore, Henry Booraem, Garret Storm and Thomas Addis Emmet; This could be T.A. Emmet (I), perhaps involved in planning the cemetery before his death in 1827, but more probably is his son T.A. Emmet (II), who procured vault #148 for the Emmet family on 6.6.1833

It is sometimes suggested T.A. Emmet (I) was buried at the NYC Marble Cem. (or in the graveyard of St.Paul's Chapel, at Broadway & Fulton Street) but both not so; T.A.E. died in 1827, before NYC Marble cemetery opened in 1831 and was interred in the David S. Jones vault (No.10) at the churchyard of St.Mark's-in-the-Bowery, New York City

It is sometimes suggested that his wife Jane Patten Emmet was buried with him at St.Mark's-in-the-Bowery, but again not so, she was interred in vault #148 at The New York City Marble Cemetery 12.11.1846, where her close friend Margaret Blennerhassett (K 10) had been interred in 1842; Therese Blennerhassett Adams (K 43) in 1901 wrote that these two friends were "buried side-by-side" and [LOWTHER, 1939 ed. p.79] verifies this; Margaret's son Harman Blennerhassett Jr (K 12) was interred 18.8.1854 in the same vault and in late June 1996 the remains of both mother & son were exhumed and removed to the Blennerhassett Island Historical State Park in West Virginia
